WHEN OUR CHILD DOESN'T GET A PRIZE

As the season of awards ceremonies approaches, it's useful to consider how to respond when our child doesn't receive a prize. It is important to learn to cope productively with disappointment because it's an important skill for a happy life.

Talk about what matters.

The best lesson is to enjoy learning and activities for themselves, not for prizes and accolades. Some students desperately want always to be the best. One way we can assist is to ask our child, "What does the prize really mean to you?" If it is recognition for work well done, help them see what a good year they have had and how much they have accomplished. It's their own sense of satisfaction that really matters.

Don't blame the decision-maker.

Those who give prizes are usually keenly aware of their responsibility and are thoughtful and conscientious in their decisions. Most decisions are made using clearly articulated criteria and in my experience, always made in good faith.

Take the long view.

Short of a Nobel, most prizes don't really have a long-term effect on anyone's life. After they are given, they have a short shelf-life and quickly decline in importance. How many adults can truly point to a childhood prize making a deep impact on their future?

Accept that feelings provide us with choices.

Children can focus on their own unhappiness or be happy for their classmate or teammate. Uncomfortable feelings fade quickly.

Learn to find joy in the success of other people.

Disappointment provides an opportunity to take joy in someone else's success. That's difficult but the ability to enjoy another's good fortune is part of an emotionally mature life.

Focus on happy memories.

If our child cares enough about an activity to be disappointed by not winning a prize, that activity has been important. Celebrate the year's work as a family. This can be achieved by focusing on the happy memories, the lessons learned, the personal growth and skills developed and the relationships cultivated. In this way, parents can help lessen the very real sting of feeling passed over. Acknowledge their disappointment and help them stay focused on what is most valuable. That way, we help our children develop resilience and emotional maturity.

Sporting Achievements

There have been some outstanding sporting achievements by College students this year and it is pleasing to read about these in the fortnightly Newsletters as highlighted by Mr Ellis and Mr Hillier. I would like to make mention of two particular students who have attained a very high level of achievement in their chosen sport. Both Talicia Canty and Zac McCoombes have been selected to be members of the School Sport All Australian International Hockey Teams to participate in the SSA Australian Hockey Tour taking place in Europe from 25 May to 11 June 2019. Destinations they will travel to include the Netherlands, Belgium, France and Germany. This is an outstanding achievement on the part of both Talicia and Zac and I know that they will prove to be great ambassadors for West Moreton Anglican College. Whilst both have been 'quiet achievers' over the years representing Hockey at various high levels, they should be very proud to have reached such extraordinary heights in their chosen sport. On behalf of the WestMAC community, I wish them well in their journeys leading up to and including the European tour.

Equestrian Achievements

Congratulations to our three Queensland Schools' Equestrian team members, Freya Domrow, Sage Fisher-Peters and Siena Fisher-Peters, for their efforts at the recent National Championships in Werribee, Victoria. All three girls were enthusiastic representatives for the Queensland team. Freya achieved two national top ten placings – 10th in Elementary Freestyle class (on Chance of a Lifetime) and 6th in the Secondary Advanced class (on Emmaville Decoy). Siena also achieved a national top 10 placing finishing 8th in Combined Training Primary 80cm class (on Jazz McTavish). Sage and Freya captained the Queensland Show Horse and Dressage teams respectively. Congratulations to all three students on their achievements.

Presentation Nights 2018

Planning is underway for this year's Presentation Nights which will once again be held in the Lostroh Centre. Having these events at our own venue enhances our seating capacity. Kokoda Challenge Youth Program

While many of us were enjoying a relaxing break during the recent school holidays, Ashleigh Armstrong, a current Year 12 student, was challenging herself and walking the Kokoda Trail. Below is a short report from Ashleigh along with some photos from her experience.

"During the recent school holidays I travelled to Papua New Guinea (PNG) and trekked the famous Kokoda Trail. Over the past 20 weeks I have been training every Sunday and Wednesday with the Kokoda Challenge Youth Program (KYCP) to prepare for this trek. The entire PNG experience was equally challenging and rewarding. Being in a third world country and seeing how different people live is inspirational in itself. Each day we stayed in villages with the most kind hearted locals; this made the trip worthwhile. Most of all, having the privilege to walk the track the Australian soldiers fought on was mind blowing. Seeing foxholes, trenches and ammunition dumps first hand, climbing to the top of Brigade Hill and visiting Isurava (the site of the Battle of Isurava) were incredible experiences. I have a renewed respect for every Australian soldier, past, present and future.

The entire KCYP experience has taught me how much the human body can achieve if effort is put in. From completing the Gold Coast 96km challenge to now being able to say I have walked the Kokoda Trail at 17 years of age shows that I can overcome anything. The traits that are commonly referred to within the program are courage, endurance, mateship and sacrifice. These are the traits that were shown by the Australian soldiers during World War II on the Kokoda Trail. The foundation's purpose is to bring those traits out in young adults and I can proudly say that through hard effort and determination, I can see those same traits within myself. Even though my training and trekking with the program is over, our team's 6 months of community service begins. We give back to the community that helped us go on this once in a lifetime experience and I don't think I can be any more excited."

Congratulations Ashleigh! This is indeed an awesome achievement.

Student Protection

In a couple of weeks, the Child and Youth Risk Management Committee will meet to reflect upon initiatives that have been undertaken in 2018 to keep our students safe. I extend an invitation to you to email me with any thoughts you may have as to how WestMAC can continue to ensure the safety of our students.

University Scholarships

Congratulations is extended to Luke Spreadborough who found out this week he is the recipient of a Vice-Chancellor's Scholarship at the University of Southern Queensland for 2019. These scholarships are offered to reward high achieving students with strong academic ability. Next year, Luke intends to study a Bachelor of Spatial Science (Honours) Major Surveying. We wish Luke all the best with his tertiary studies.

Middle School

WestMAC is a school that is committed to providing a global outlook for its students. A global outlook is an increasingly common catchphrase projected by many Australian schools, but what does it mean for our students? When we consider global learning at WestMAC, it includes:

- Learning in a global context
- Fostering critical and creative thinking
- Self-awareness and open-mindedness towards difference
- Understanding of global issues and power relationships
- Optimism and action for a better world

In further answering this question I can reflect on my recent visit to Japan with Mrs Anne Shaw, our Director of International Student Programs, where I was very fortunate to meet some of our international families and partnering schools. It was a great privilege to be able to meet our extended international community and gain a clearer understanding of the cultural contexts of our international students and the challenges they face when transitioning to our college.

Having international students at WestMAC highlights our rapidly evolving global economy. Here at the College, we encourage our students to think wide and far considering those from different cultures and backgrounds. From a business perspective James Smith, Chair of Shell, states unequivocally: "It is crucial for the future challenges we face, both as businesses and as a society, for young people's education to equip them to think globally. We live in a global world, and an interdependent economy and environment". Thinking global doesn't mean just providing annual school trips to various countries (although these are wonderful experiences) but welcoming and engaging with international students on a day-to-day basis, developing global learning and international cultural awareness.

I am immensely proud to have such wonderful international students in the Middle School and their contributions to expanding our cultural awareness. Having visited families in Japan, I appreciate the trust each family place in our college in the wellbeing and care of their children and their desire for them to not just improve their English skills, but obtain greater global learning. It must be a massive culture shock for our international students departing their countries and arriving in the quiet, rural setting of WestMAC. When recently speaking with our Japanese families they choose our WestMAC for its reputation of providing a welcoming, safe and academic school. They speak of the generosity and kindness of our domestic students and their encouragement to include them in all aspects of college life. These families also speak warmly of our wonderful homestay families who nurture and care for these students as they would in their own homes.

I've included some of the photos from my visits that included visits to Shizuoka Kita High School and Shukutoku Junior High School. Also included are photos of Mr & Mrs Shimura (Grandparents of Ensei Shimura – Year 8) and Ms Kunimoto (Mother of Yumeka – Year 9).

2019 Class requests

College staff are already well into planning for next year and, as always, are receptive of parent and guardian input. If you have a special class request for your Junior School child or children in the areas of friendship groups or teaching styles, please put it in writing to Ms Kirsten Mullan, Head of Junior School, kmullan@wmac.com.au to be received by Friday 2 November.

Junior School staff place students in classes after a very careful analysis of each child's personality, learning ability, friendship groups and the personality and special talents of the prospective teacher, as well as considering the possible dynamics of the new class and how well the class as a whole will function.

While parents and carers wishes will certainly be considered, it is not always possible to meet every parent's request; however, please be assured that if a request has not been met, there was a very valid reason for that decision.

Science and Design Technology in Year 5

The Year 5 students rose to the challenge of creating lighting systems for Egyptian Tombs as a culminating activity in Science in Term 3. Pictured are some of our students applying their knowledge of reflected light to solve the problem of how to illuminate the tombs during a black-out. We would like to thank David Ferrett of Sequel Books for kindly donating 24 cardboard boxes for our activity.

Chaplaincy

As I write, my Son and his fiancée are imminently awaiting the birth of their daughter. I have been asked to be present at the birth, which is a huge privilege, so I have a bag ready, packed in my car and have been making contingency plans should I have to dash off. While this is somewhat unsettling, the up-side of this is that our students get to hear from an array of speakers. Rector of St Paul's, Ipswich, Fr Steve, spent the morning with us last Tuesday. Jelly Babies were shared, important life lessons delivered, laughter and thoughtfulness were the order of the day. Naturally enough, the new Doctor received a hat tip. This Tuesday, Reverend Chris Bate and his wife, Juliana from All Saints, Booval joined us. While I don't want anyone to think I'm shirking my responsibilities, I think it is a really good thing for students to hear a number of differing voices and responses to the Gospel. The wonder of the Anglican Church is its variety and breadth.

At Synod, a couple of weeks ago, the Archbishop spoke about that. It is so easy to become polarised but it does the Church, the community and the Gospel no favours when we let this happen. Openness and acceptance is one of our most powerful virtues. It is so easy to write off someone or something different from us. Tribalism and fearmongering seems to be one of the most often used political tool at the moment. I don't think it does any of us any good. The more we can see ourselves in others, the more we realise that it's possible to hold differing viewpoints without having to fear or hate 'the other', the more our world will grow in peace and understanding.

One of the things I regret most having missed out on as part of my schooling was the opportunity to learn debating. It's such a valuable life-skill, to be able to debate a subject without being emotionally involved or offended by the discussion. To have the ability to look at a situation from diverse angles and realise that your point of view is not necessarily the only valid one, is becoming an ever more crucial skill for the leaders of today and definitely for the leaders of tomorrow. WestMAC has a proud tradition in this area and, coupled with our Anglican values can only make our students more well-rounded, compassionate and well qualified for the challenges they will face in the future. I'm convinced that many of our students will go on to make very real positive changes in their communities. I know many already have. As we move ever closer to farewelling the Class of 2018 let us support them in every way we can, giving thanks for all they have achieved and all they will achieve. May these last few weeks of school be full of blessings for each of them.

CBSQ Basketball

The College once again took part in the Champion Basketball Schools of Queensland competition at the end of Term 3 and into the September holiday break. Our boys team had raised a division after coming 2nd in 2017 and we were also lucky to gain entry into the girls competition.

Our boys were competitive and finished in 13th place whilst our girls team made it to the Grand Final playoff against All Hallows. WestMAC went down in a close showdown in the final finishing in 2nd place. Our Open Girls team is to be congratulated for their efforts in making a CBSQ Grand Final in the Colleges' first ever appearance in the School girls competition.

It is a long four day carnival with many hours between the multiple matches played each day. A massive thankyou to the parents and supporters who made the trek out to the Logan City playing venues to cheer on and support both teams at the event.

WestMAC made the Facebook feed of Basketball Queensland to announce the Tournament start!

All Schools Touch Football

West Moreton Anglican College entered an Under 13 Girls and Open Girls team into the Queensland All Schools Touch Football Competition. This competition draws 420 teams from around the State, including teams from overseas, as far away as Singapore.

The event had to be cancelled for the second time in its 36 year history due to the wet and unplayable conditions presented at the event. We would like to thank all players for their efforts preparing for and competing at the event. Though we did not get to complete all games in 2018, our teams competed hard for a chance at making the final round of schools. This brings the Touch Football season to a close and we wish all players and coaches a restful off-season and we hope to see everyone back out on the Touch Football fields in 2019.

As always, the Dance Concert will be the culmination of a fantastic year of achievement for our dancers.

We would also encourage students to study the subject areas that are assumed knowledge for their preferred degree.

Students with a standalone VET qualification will be able to apply for a wide range of Griffith degrees and we will provide further information as soon as we can.
